

SAFE & EQUAL

The campaign for full pay for self-isolation for all, regardless of contract or status

 www.safeandequal.org

We demand:

- Full sick pay (or paid leave) from day one for all workers who are following government advice by staying home.
- No disciplinary action for following government advice and staying home.
- Adequate hygiene provision, including PPE and access to frequent hand-washing.
- Social distancing at work, including withdrawal of duties that involve close contact, and home working where practical.
- The establishment of a monitoring committee including elected workers' representatives to scrutinise all information and advice and recommend further actions.

Without full pay, we are not safe.

Key workers across the country are most at risk of contracting Covid-19. In order to protect ourselves and everyone else, we need the means to make ends meet and adequate health and safety measures implemented in our workplaces.

If key workers can't afford to look after themselves or their families, they will be forced into work, even against government advice. This applies to all workers - across all industries - regardless of contract or employment status.

We are already seeing victories in workplaces across the NHS, civil service, local government, transport and education.

To get involved in the safe and equal campaign, to read testimonials from workers who have already won and for advice and support in winning concessions in your workplace, get in touch!
